JASMINE ROTH

A Huntington Beach resident, Jasmine has her own hit show on HGTV called "Hidden Potential," where she transforms homes from cookie-cutter to custom through clever design tailored to the homeowners' specific needs.

"Everyone I know is on the #lovewhereyoulive bandwagon, but let's be honest: Huntington Beach really is the best," Jasmine says. "Every day here is pretty great, but here's what my ultimate, most perfect, unicorn-of-a-Huntington Beach day would look like."

MORNING

Wake up EARLY, throw leashes on my dogs, and jog across Pacific Coast Highway to the walking path that spans the entire length of Huntington Beach. Heading north, I find myself at Huntington Dog Beach, where my English bulldog (who loves to swim) and my rescue chihuahua (who loves anything stinky) can play to their heart's content. Then it's straight back to Main Street for an açai bowl from Banzai Bowls, and a much-needed stop into The Dirty Dog Wash. Here I bathe my pups in vintage clawfoot tubs and dry them with fluffy towels.

MIDDAY

WalkBack home, my husband and I jump on our bikes and head to our friend's brewery, Riip Beer Co., to taste their newest IPA. Then we head to Pacific City to get in a little shopping (think Urban Outfitters, H&M, and lots of cute local shops).

EVENING

Walk to the end of the pier (a quarter mile to the end) and see the sun dip below the horizon. Afterward, a quick stop to see what's new at Main Street Wine Company, and it's off to dinner with friends at Cucina Alessa. Did somebody say meatballs? Eat good food. Walk home. Fall asleep to the sound of the waves. And there you have it. Best. Day. Ever.
